

Christmas Mini Purses

These little purses are so simple to make, so you can make up a whole batch very easily. I thought they would make nice little gifts for my daughter's school friends if a small bag of sweets/lollies/candies is stapled inside each one. If you were feeling very crafty, you could make up 24 of these and use them as a novel advent calendar!

We actually featured these mini purses on the blog quite a while ago but I've decided to revisit the project, as I thought it would be nice to decorate them in a Christmas theme, as part of our 24 Days of Christmas Series. You can get the template for these on the Free Stuff Pages and they will also be posted on the '24 Days...' page too, so head there for the free pattern, which includes two different designs.

Happy Crafting!
